THE PHILA. WEEKLY "PRESS," is one of the best weeklies published. It gives a general epitome of news with such other interesting reading as to make it a general family favorite. The issue of March 29th, begins a story which promises to be one of great interest. The "Press" is published by the "Press" Company, of Phila., at $2.00 per year.

A Rush of Negroes.

The New Orleans "News" says:—Two reliable negroes, one a representative and the other a parish judge, just from Madison parish, say that the exodus of negroes exceeds anything that can be imagined. They say that sixty thousand laborers and their families will leave for Kansas within the next six months, and the action of the white people in endeavoring to check the movement will only promote the he-gira. They give the following figures as evidence that the negroes are forced to seek some other location in self-protection: Annual rent charged, per acre, of land, $10; cost of ginning, $5; mule, $7; bagging and ties, $2; total, $24. Average product, one bale to the acre; average price of bale of cotton, $30.

Last evening meetings were held in all the colored churches of the city, and subscriptions were raised to assist the colored residents of Natchitoches to remove to Kansas. Several prominent bank officers say that this exodus of the negroes is the most disastrous occurrence in the annals of the state of Louisiana, and that their disappearance will destroy a source of wealth which can never be replaced without a social revolution.

Fires in Lebanon County.

LEBANON, April 4.—Considerable excitement has been created in this borough over a large fire which is now raging on the Blue Mountains situated some distance from here. This afternoon quite a number of our citizens left here to assist the farmers in subduing the flames. The fire has been burning since Sunday, and already about seven miles have been burnt over, and fences, sheds, timber, etc., to the amount of several thousand dollars have been destroyed. A stiff northwest wind has been blowing most of the time since the fire started, and although the citizens have been fighting the flames the fire still continues. Several persons, it is said, have made narrow escapes, but so far no lives have been lost. If the fire is not gotten under control soon the loss of property will be very heavy.

A Terrible Tragedy Near San Jose.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—A dispatch from San Jose gives a brief account of a tragedy which occurred in Foot Hills, near that city. Four members of a family residing there were horribly mutilated with an axe or a similar weapon. The mother of the family is missing and it is not known whether she was killed or escaped. The family lived in seclusion in a rough habitation. Nothing is known of their history previous to their arrival here a few months ago. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage, the motive of which is unknown. The family had no property to excite cupidity.

Cameron Wins.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—In the Oliver-Cameron case this morning argument was concluded. The case was then given to the jury and they retired for deliberation. After a short absence the jury returned and informed the court that they had agreed upon a verdict for the defendant. The verdict was received with much satisfaction by all classes of people in the city.

A Mother Murders Her New Born Child.

BALTIMORE, April 1.—Frances Green, colored, murdered her new born child in the northwestern section of the city this morning. She smothered it and when arrested by the police at noon to-day had it in a basket under some clothing. She was going out to bury it.

A Five Dollar Bird's Nest.

The Cleveland "Leader" says: Yesterday the men engaged in clearing Monumental Park of the debris and rubbish, while taking down the sparrows' nests in the trees, came across one in which they found a 5 dollar bill neatly woven. The money was crumpled, but good, and the half-dozen workmen quietly "divided" and went into the task with renewed zeal, expecting to find a few more bills hidden away somewhere in the nests. Strange to say, they found a lady's fine gold-chain in another and a number of curiosities of less value.

All About an Organ.

A dispute has arisen in Penn township, Lancaster county regarding an organ, which was put in Alry Dale school house. The organ was stolen and hid some place and it was said that it had been thrown into Ericholtz's Slate quarry, which was filled with water. Last week a steam engine from Lancaster was taken to the quarry, and commenced pumping out the water, which they continued to do without intermission until about ten o'clock on Saturday morning, when the water had sank to within four feet of the bottom of the quarry, and the hose could reach no further. The steamer was then taken away, and a boat launched upon which the parties rowed and searched the bottom, but did not succeed in finding their treasure. The organ was at the quarry, and pieces of it were seen floating on the water by several parties, but where it got to or where it is now appears to be a mystery. It is supposed that over 7,300 barrels of water were pumped out of the quarry. Hundreds of persons were present to witness the operation.

Miscellaneous News Items.

An Ohio man whipped his wife because she looked into his pockets and found a love letter that a girl had written to him.

The colored men in Wisconsin are to hold a convention in Milwaukee, in May, to discuss plans for colonizing themselves in the far West.

The storm did considerable damage in Effingham county, Ga., on Sunday. A son of ex-Congressman Rawls was killed by a falling tree.

A young lady of Shelbyville, Ind., recently died while two physicians and their partisans in her family were quarreling loudly and bitterly over the right of precedence in treating her.

There are not enough convicts in the Joliet (Ill.) prison to meet the contracts made for labor by the State, and unless there is an increase of crime the State will have to pay $160 a day to cover this want.

The Dime Savings Institution of York, Pa., re-opened its doors Tuesday morning for the purpose of paying depositors fifty per cent. of their deposits, and will continue to do so until all are paid that amount. About $20,000 was paid out in one day last week.

Mr. R. Robertson, of Camden, has a singular dog of the terrier species, which was born without fore legs, but is active and healthy, and walks upon his hind legs as nimbly as most dogs on four.

A young girl a few days ago in Paterson was knocked down by a runaway team belonging to Mr. A. R. Van Houten, and badly injured. One of the horses' feet caught in the girl's hair and the iron shoe caused a ghastly wound in the head. She is still in a critical condition.

The wife of Jacob Reed, an old and well-known resident of Danville, Montour county, entered the parlor of the house last Sunday morning a week and found her husband seated in a chair dead. He had one foot on, and was evidently in the act of putting on the other.

A regiment of tramps, numbering more than a hundred, descended upon the Chester County Almshouse last Monday night. They came from the large cities, principally New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore—and the next morning started towards the Valley.

A singular marriage occurred at Iowa City recently. Some time ago a Mr. Titcomb died of small-pox, and a Mrs. Hart who nursed him died also, thus leaving a Mrs. Titcomb and a Mr. Hart without companions. This couple concluded to marry, and the ceremony was recently performed.

About two-thirds of the employees of the Reading (Pa.) Cotton Mill struck Tuesday against a ten per cent. reduction in their wages, and operations at the mill are completely stopped. The hands number about 250 people. The superintendent states that operations will not be resumed except at the reduced wages.

At Newbury, Ind., on Saturday night last two white men entered a church where a negro festival and supper were in progress. After eating as much as they desired, a demand for payment was made by Charles Thomas, when one of the men drew a razor and cut Thomas' throat from ear to ear, killing him instantly.

The night express train on the Grand Trunk was thrown from the track near Smith Creek, Mich., on Saturday night. One brakeman was killed, the engineer and fireman were fatally scalded, and four passengers were injured. The disaster was caused by train-wreckers, who removed a rail.

A few minutes after Col. Fitzgerald had left his editorial chair at "The Item" office last Wednesday afternoon, a large piece of cornice fell, striking the chair with great violence. Had he been on the spot there is no doubt that he would have been killed, as the cornice would have fallen directly on his head.—Philadelphia Press.

Williamsport is very much excited over the outrage of an eight year old girl. A man named Paul was arrested for the crime, but released on the evidence of a saloon-keeper, proving an alibi. Later information pointed to Paul as the miscreant, and was re-arrested, and has had a narrow escape from lynching.

As a man was passing a house in Portland, Me., the other day, a two-year-old girl, who was playing in a second-story room, jumped out of the window and lighted on his head. The child fell to the pavement and was badly bruised, though not seriously hurt, and the man, except being half scared to death, was not much hurt.

One morning Mrs. Soby, who lives at 1703 Christian street, Philadelphia, arose at five o'clock and went to the hydrant to draw water, leaving a lighted candle on the steps. The noise she created awakened Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, who live in the house. Mr. C. thinking burglars had entered, looked out of the window, and seeing the light and the form of a person, fired. The ball grazed Mrs. Soby's neck, inflicting a slight flesh wound.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2, 1879. The sessions of the House are now more interesting than they were at any time in the last session. The debate now being carried on, is able, is on a highly important subject, and promises to bring out all the speakers in the House. It comes about in this way: The Democrats insist, as in the last House, on attaching to the Army appropriation bill an amendment prohibiting the use of troops at the polls, and the Republicans oppose it. The first speech was made by Mr. Stephens, of Ga., and was a very temperate and strong argument in favor of the propriety of attaching general legislation to appropriation bills. But the real life of the debate was not seen until Saturday last, when Mr. Garfield made a very adroit speech in opposition, and announced that the Republicans, deeming this only the commencement of an attempt by Democrats to starve the Government to death, would insist that no amendments of a general character should be placed on any appropriation bill. The speech was a very strong one, and will be circulated as a campaign document.

Mr. Garfield was followed on yesterday (Tuesday) by Belford, of Colorado, and by Mr. Frye on the same side. The significant speeches on the Democratic side were by Mr. Chalmers, of Miss., and Mr. Hurd, of Ohio. The latter spoke of President Hayes in the following terms, which I give to show that the debate causes considerable excitement.

"I do not believe that the majority of this House will be intimidated from its duty by a threat of the President, much less the threat of a President whose title to office is so doubtful and whose term of office is yet so uncertain."

The debate will last indefinitely, and when we remember that other subjects, to be proposed in connection with the legislative appropriation bill, will consume equal time and that these battles will be fought over again in the Senate, there seems little prospect of an early adjournment.

The Senate, in its election of officers, displaced the principal ones, but spared some few of the veteran Republican subordinates—men who were there when Webster, Benton, Calhoun and Clay were Senators.

The House Committees have not yet been announced, and there is little doubt that Speaker Randall finds difficulty in suiting himself and at the same time gratify every ambitious, gentleman who desires to be at the head of a committee. This seems to be a good time to agitate the question of adopting the Senate plan, which is to select its own committees. Mr. Randall is an accomplished speaker, but the speaker has enormous powers without that of selecting leaders of the House.

The only bill of any importance which has so far passed either House, is that authorizing a contract to be made for a vessel to be used in disinfecting ships coming from ports supposed to be infected with the yellow fever or other contagious diseases. Prof. Gamgee, who will doubtless get the contract, claims that he can freeze all the yellow fever germs in a vessel in a few minutes. This bill passed the Senate yesterday, and will be acted on in the House whether Congress goes into "general legislation" or not.

Attention is being attracted everywhere to Senator Windom's scheme for colonizing colored people in the Northwest. Influential colored men here have organized and are in correspondence with their people in the Senate. Fred. Douglass, however, sees little good and much harm likely to result from it.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for using and preparing, in German, French, or English.—Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 140 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. 1444

Novel Literary Enterprise.

Every person who has a library of even a dozen volumes is sure to have some books, valuable perhaps, which have served their use with him, and which he would be glad to exchange for others. To meet such wants is one object of the American Book Exchange, 55 Bockman street, New York. They gather together such offerings from thousands of libraries, and each contributor then draws what he wants, or cash, if he does not want books.—Catalogue No. 70, of an extensive collection of books in every department of literature, all offered to the highest bidder, for cash, or books on the cash basis, will be ready April 15th, and will be sent on application, for three cent stamp.

Modern Socialism.

It is not generally known that the late John Stuart Mill, perhaps the ablest of modern writers on political and social science, commenced in the year 1869 a book on Socialism, which, if it had been completed, would probably have been recognized as the greatest of his works. Manuscript chapters of the incomplete work have recently been brought to light, and are found so nearly complete in themselves, and so ably discuss questions now most prominent in the public thought, that a "London Review," and also "The Library Magazine" of New York are publishing them. They are announced to appear in book form on April 25th, published by the "American Book Exchange," New York. The price, post-paid, in cloth, will be 50 cents, or in paper 25 cents. It is a work which all students of political and social topics, and all enlightened citizens, will be glad to read.
